

A library Yuletide Greeting

May the season be filled with reading and more,
And your stockings stuffed with new authors galore.
Have time to watch that movie you like,
That you found at the library, let's make it tonight.

The sounds of Christmas gently fill your abode,
From the cassettes and cd's, you loaned a full load.
The supper is cooking from a recipe you took,
From the book they helped find, knew just where to look.

The tree richly trimmed with the crafts you could make,
From the decorating books you found you could take.
To the gifts you made too, stacked under the tree,
All this was shared by the library for free.
